GARIPEY RESIGNS; COTE JOINS CABINET

Edmonton, Sept. 25.—Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy has resigned from the provincial secretary. Jean Cote, member for Grouard, has been appointed to the vacancy, filling the same portfolio. Mr. Gariepy resigned because of press of business, and will continue a member of the legislature.

Mr. Gariepy for some time has been concerning himself about his own business, and intimated that he might do it necessary to resign. The shift in the portfolio was made, it is understood because he desired a higher post. However, he decided that he could not give sufficient time to the government work and pressed his resignation upon the premier.

The premier gave out this statement this afternoon.

"I very much regret that for personal business reasons Mr. Gariepy has tendered his resignation as provincial secretary. I feel that he has been a very able adviser of the crown in this province, and that his services will be greatly missed. On finding, this afternoon, that he would not reconsider his resignation, I asked Mr. J. L. Cote, of Grouard, to join the cabinet as provincial secretary. This Mr. Cote agreed to do, and he was sworn in this afternoon.

Mr. Cote, the newly appointed minister, is a very popular member of the house, of which he has been a member since 1909. He was born May 26, 1876, at Le Boulle, Quebec, and educated at the Commercial academy, Montmagny, Quebec, and at Ottawa College. He was with the department of the interior from 1892 to 1909. He was on the staff of the Alaska boundary survey during the summers of 1893 to 1895. He was on government work in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, and was in Dawson from 1900 to 1903. He settled in Edmonton in 1907 and is a member of the firm of Cote and Smith, land surveyors. He was elected to the legislature in 1909, 1913 and 1915. He married Cecile Gagnon in 1907 and has four sons. He is a Roman Catholic.

Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy in tendering his resignation as a member of the Provincial Cabinet gave out the following statement.

"You may announce that I have today resigned office as a member of the cabinet and that I have done so for reasons which are absolutely of personal and business nature. I am joining a legal firm in Eastern Canada, and I shall in future devote my time to the practice of my profession. This does not mean that I shall abandon Edmonton altogether, as I have business interests here which will require my attention on the ground, and I retain my seat in the legislature.

"I cannot speak too highly of the courteous, considerate and generous treatment which I have at all times received from Premier Stewart as well as from the other members of his government. Never shall I forget the cordial and harmonious relations which have existed between us. I am leaving the government with only the most pleasant recollections. The years spent in the service of the province as a minister of the crown shall be amongst the happiest of my life and words fail me to speak of the esteem and confidence which I entertain toward Prime Minister Stewart."

The Case for Thrift

The case for thrift in Canada at the present time may be briefly summed up. The country has been in a state of unexampled prosperity for the past two years owing, it is quite clear, to unusual war conditions. Wages have been high, profits are large and there is a total absence of unemployment. Very many workers are earning more than ever before and thousands are "wage-slaves" for the first time. With all this prosperity and the fact that they are not accustomed to judicious disposal of their money, many spend their entire surplus on the assumption that this prosperity will go on forever.

The appeal now is to the people of Canada to immediately undertake a vigorous campaign of personal thrift, to abstain from the purchase of all luxuries and non-essentials, and to endeavor to accumulate as great a saving as possible. Naturally many people will say they are now living as economically as they can and that their standard of living has actually been lowered owing to the high prices of articles of food and clothing. This may be true, but it does not alter the fact that there is still much extravagance and that this exists to a dangerous degree when we remember the temporary character of the prosperity and the perils of the period of readjustment that will follow peace. The practice of thrift by the Canadian people now will bring a large accumulation of national savings to secure as individual and collectively against any trying change that might occur in the economic situation. It would make possible the continuance of Canada's splendid part in the war and the maintenance of our war financing on its present sound basis. The elimination of luxuries and non-essentials would as a matter of fact release labor and material for war purposes instead of using these great and scarce necessities for things that we could do without.

The examples of other countries should inspire Canadians to much greater effort in thrift. France has been able to face her four yrs. of terrible trial by reason of her background of personal thrift. Great Britain is practicing it as perhaps never before. The United States is fast piling up vast sums of money for the use of her own and the armies of the Allies. Canada has done much to finance her own part in the war but no one can say that the limit of saving has been reached or even approached.

Bad Lands News

Now that the Germans are being sent back on the West Front, and see signs of a new offensive in the east, we may look for a vigorous peace offensive from them. Peace propaganda coming direct from Germany need not worry us. We have only to remember the utter disregard of all agreements and promises, and the convention of civilized nations shown by the Germans, to know that the only Germany with which we can make peace is one that is beaten to a frazzle and with not a kick left. What we have to look out for is the Germany inspired pacifist at home. That the Germans figure on these to help their nefarious schemes is plain. In an article in German paper, written by one of their professors, he says: "The diplomatic offensive which must go side by side with the Hindenburg offensive must be a real offensive; it must aim not at an agreement with the English war party, but at making the war party impossible. In order to achieve this it is necessary to place weapons in the hands of the decent elements in the enemy peoples, and that is by no means difficult." By such means he figures "the growth of peace parties" can be so far promoted that Germany's enemies can be greatly hampered in the continuance of the war. The Germans begin to realize that nothing can prevent the Allies from defeating Germany unless pacifism can be encouraged and fanned into a flame as may embarrass the allied governments. Lord Lansdowne is a sample of the pacifist working among the allies for Germany. There are far more insidious ways of introducing pacifism, and that will appeal to the average man or woman who would never read anything coming from Lord Lansdowne or Lord Any-body-else. Now, look out for the man or woman who, after Germany has made some more specious peace offer, begins to appeal to our humanity and our highest instincts to stop the needless slaughter of our boys in Europe, who will plead for the poor, starving babies in Germany how peace could save these poor darlings who are dying by inches: the country is conquered, is offering a reasonable peace, so why sacrifice any more of our fine young manhood, and why young condemn to death those millions of poor starving babies and children? The man or woman who starts that talk now is a pro-German, every damned one of them.

As to those poor, starving German babies. Who raped and harried the women old and young, down to ten years of age, in Belgium and northern France? German soldiers from the lowest private to the most exalted officer. These men were once German babies. Who crucified Canadian soldiers? Who maimed Canadian prisoners? Who wantonly and of deliberate malice destroyed the homes of the poor, the mansions of the rich and the houses erected for worship and Glory of God? Who made civilians dig their graves, and then shot them? Who impaled the babies of Belgium and France on their bayonets and carried them off on their shoulders? All this was done by German soldiers, men who had once been babies. What milk had they imbibed from their mothers? What home training had they received? What mothers influence, that in a day all sense, love of humanity vanished and the naked and unadorned beast appeared? What of the babies of Germany? It is their own fathers who have brought them to this pass. Are the lives of these babies who may grow into such men as their fathers to be weighed against the blood spilt by civilization's best and bravest? Think nothing of the treasure that has been expended, think only of the brave men who have died or been maimed in the battle to best the beast, and shall we ever talk of peace until that beast is put in a shape that he can never plunge the world again into such a war again? I think not. This is no time for false humanity and naïve sentiment. When we hear anyone start that soft pedast stunk, look well, for then you see a pro-German.

A Philadelphia paper says: "The report that a U. S. Boat officer saw a Broadway show and then went right out and sank a U. S. ship, is the clearest justification of German sub-marine warfare put out to date."

"If you refuse to marry me, I'll enlist," wailed one of our young men. "O! what a pity you didn't ask me four years ago," she replied.

The German commanders who have been sent to the right about lately are Von Beulow, Von Einem, Von Mudra, Von Boehm, Von Eben, Von Hutier, and Von der Maritz. Just so, exactly, von by von they ged id in der neck.

The Late Corp. Craig

The many friends of the late Corp. Jim Craig will be interested to hear particulars regarding his death, which comes to us in a letter to his mother from his chums.

France Aug. 17th.

Dear Mrs. Craig—
You will excuse the liberty we are taking in writing to you, when we tell you we are all thinking of you and how you will not mind.

We are awfully sorry for you all, because we know how upset you must be at the loss of such a good son as Jim.

He has often spoken about you all of us at different times, so that we somehow seem to know you.

We were with Jim when he was hit, as he was the corporal on our gun. A shell exploded right at the back of him and he was killed instantly, so there is one thing to be thankful for, and that is that he had no suffering before he died. He is buried just about the spot he felt, but at present moment we are not allowed to tell the place.

You don't know what a sad blow it was for us, his chums out here, as he was always ready for any fun, and never seemed to have a blue moment. But he died doing his duty, as we hope we shall, if ever called upon to do so.

Please accept our deepest sympathy in your great loss. Our sympathy comes right from the heart, although this letter is somewhat roughly written, and if any time you would care to drop us a line, we should be more than pleased. The date of Jim's death is August 9th. Yours sincerely,

Pte. C. P. Billing.

We his friends here pay highest honors to Corp. Craig for he gave his life willingly, yes cheerfully as his share in the emancipation of humanity and truly greater love hath no man than this. That a man lay down his life that humanity through sacrifice and suffering might attain unto God's ideal.

Veteran Theatre Oct. 9th and 10th

In April, 1917, John Alton, Paedist, bursts into a rage in the smoking room of his club "Damn the United States" he cries, I wish I may never hear of the United States again.

But his true-blue-American sweatshirt hears of him. "I marry no American who thinks less of his country than of me."

In his dreams she makes him see himself as the unfortunate hero of Edward Everett Hale's Masterpiece of patriotism, known to millions. Read in the classic story how our treason of a century ago cost you all that you held most dear." And John Alton, for one terrible hour, becomes Lieut. Phillip Nolan, the disgraced.

Be sure and see this production at the Veteran Theatre, it will be worth your money.
Prices 20 and 35c.

Those persons who congratulate themselves that under a free and democratic form of government such as either that of Great Britain or the United States, no such breed of anarchists as the Bolsheviks of Russia could ever develop, may be due to suffer a great disillusionment some of these days. Germany Wants Peace

Germany is asking for peace. The Kaiser says "An Honorable Peace." The Germans will get peace, but they will not get it until they are ready and willing to throw down their arms and admit that Civilization has triumphed over the most damnable and barbarous nation on earth. It is nothing new for Germany to seek peace. Except in one or two instances in history the German barbarians have had to ask for peace, and take what peace was granted to them. Germany is and always has been a nation of cowards. The German will fight hard if he happens to be in the majority about ten to one. But when there is anything like an even fight, the German is always willing to slink away like a whipped cur. This has been the German record all down the ages.

Germany is not going to get the peace she would like. Great Britain and her Allies have lost too much in blood and treasure to consider any peace move while there is a far distant end than the Kaiser wishes for.

The Allied troops will keep on fighting the good fight until Germany and her mad ruler come to their senses, and are in a repentant mood. The end is in sight, but it is a far distant end than the Kaiser wishes for.

The war must go on until Civilization becomes safe from the madness of an irresponsible nation such as Germany has proved herself to be.

Germans Ask For Immediate Suspension of Hostilities.

Amsterdam, Oct. 5 (Associated Press)—The immediate suspension of hostilities has been proposed by the imperial German chancellor, Prince Max Baumbach, in a Reichstag, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Tijd. The entente allies are to be asked to state their terms.

The Chancellor's proposal embraced also the despatch of plenipotentiaries to a neutral place to discuss the question of a league for national arbitration and disarmament.

The plenipotentiaries are further to be empowered to discuss the creation of federal Austria—the right of self-determination for Russian frontier states, the restoration and indemnification of Belgium, autonomy for Alsace-Lorraine and the return of the German colonies.

The terms of the entente allies will be asked at the same time, with the object of forming a basis for the consideration of these important questions.

Willingness to join a league of nations on a basis of equal rights was declared by Chancellor Maximilian in his address. He also proposed complete rehabilitation of Belgium and immediate establishment of popular representative bodies in the Baltic provinces of Lithuania and Poland.

Other advisers say that the chancellor has not yet met the state secrets credited to him regarding the suspension of hostilities, the appointment of plenipotentiaries and the request for the Allies' terms, but that it was understood he would make such proposals.

Fellow Canadians!

"YOU who spend as much or more on your enjoyment—who indulge in as many of the good things of life as you ever did—who buy what you want to, eat what you fancy, go where you please—who deny yourselves nothing—how much real thought do you give to the winning of the war?"

"You know what we have to put up with. Do you think we could stand it all—the homesickness, the untold misery, and the terrible fighting—if we dreamed 'over there' that you were trifling with this war, that you were sending money on frivolous things?"

"Don't you see that every time you spend a dollar on a thing you don't really need you are using the labor of a man who should be either fighting or making something that will help us—your soldiers—to fight?"

"Oh, you chaps with money in your pockets and comfort in your homes and love of ease canker your souls—if you could know as I know all that war means, you'd stint yourselves down to the barest necessities, so that Canada's money and Canada's material and Canada's labor could all go into guns and shells and equipment for our boys in France to fight with!"

ADVANCE OF THE ALBERTA BOYS

This very interesting story, telling of the wonderful Canadian advance, is one of the first received by one actually taking part in the struggle.

In the letter, is mentioned neither date nor place. It is evident however that it is a description of the battle of Amiens, which took place on August 8, 9th and 10th, in which the Canadians made the highest advance recorded on a single day. The letter is dated August 18th.

The letter is as follows:

"As you have seen by the papers, the Canadians have been through a scrap, and I was mixed in it right from the start. Since the first few days of hard but the I have been bivouacked in many woods which were captured during the drive. During the last weeks I think I can safely say that I have seen things which up to the time of the advance waiting no one had seen the like of. All the boys speak of the affair being greater and harder than the Somme in 1918. My last letter was sent from a wood south of where we were bivouacked for two days. From there we marched during the night to a deserted village about 10 kilometers from the line, and here we stayed two days. During all this movement nobody had the slightest idea where we were going or what we were going to do, and the same secrecy was observed until a few hours before the attack, when all ranks were informed of what was to take place and what was expected of them. In a great measure the success of the enterprise was due to the care against leakage of information.

"Two nights before the attack we were on the march. In the darkness we threaded our way through thousands of other troops all going in the same direction, thousands of lorries carrying ammunition, slowly making their way towards the line, and guns, wagons and motor cycles, horses, mules and the tanks made up a seething mass that seemed to block every path, track and road leading to the line. But we still kept going moving around this convoy and then around another. On one occasion, while passing through a town, the low, sudden roar of the powerful engines of hundreds of tanks seemed to make the earth quiver, and for about an hour we seemed to pass nothing but tanks, small and large, and at the same time other troops were zig-zagging their way in darkness to their particular rendezvous.

"It was in this particular town that I noticed an incident relative to the instructions we had previously received about keeping our mouths shut. We were waiting held up by some lorries or tanks in front, and a battalion was silently filing past us, when one of the men would say in a hoarse whisper 'Who are you? First?' No answer. 'Are you Canadians?' Somebody would ask. 'No answer. At last a soldier asked, 'Hello, bud, are you Canucks?' 'Yep.' 'What brigade?' 'Canadians,' and that was about all one would tell the other—that they were Canadians.

"About two o'clock in the morning we arrived at the place we were to stay the day before the attack, and in a wood we had lowed until the following night, when we again moved up to the rest of the line and waited for dawn and the barrage to start. I think every soldier will agree with me that those few hours preceding the attack are a bit trying on the nerves. Immediately in front of where I was lying there were a number of batteries that had been placed in position that night to start the barrage. A whisper came down—'5 minutes to zero,' and I got a drink of rum, and believe me one needs it alright! whatever temperance reformers may think about it. 'Four minutes, 3 minutes, 2 minutes, 1 minute, 30 seconds. Then came three sharp barks from a whiz bang battery, and the show was on. Hell broke loose all along the front. You had to shout to make yourself heard, and what I noticed at the moment was that the horses which stood by the guns already harnessed to pull the guns forward never so much as reared, but stood still as if nothing at all was going on.

From now on I must confine my story to my own battalion, in fact to my own company, in places as one can only see a small part of what is happening and that directly on your own front.

Another brigade went over first and we were to follow them and go through them. Shortly after the barrage had started we pushed on towards the river which we were to cross by bridge, each unit having one particular bridge to cross. It was here I think every one expected to get heavy fire, but there were no shells firing and we got across O.K. and it was about 1,000 yards the other side we ran into Fritz's return barrage, and it was sure heavy, but I am glad to say that we suffered few casualties. Here we hit a trench running the way we were headed and we got into it, but found it already filled with troops and the enemy was knocking it about something hellish with heavy stuff and mixing it up with gas.

The order came to put on gas masks, but as nearly everyone was drenched with perspiration, and already out of breath, it was difficult to keep it on, and the best that could be done was to put the tube in our mouths and clip over your nose and keep going on. Every few yards or so we were compelled to leave the trench as the wounded and others occupied it. Here again we were favored and suffered few casualties. During this period a heavy ground mist combined with the smoke of the shells, obscured the vision and it was only possible to see but a few yards ahead.

At last we got ahead of the barrage and as the mist began to lift the enemy could be seen on the high ground, retreating as fast as he could, and the only resistance was from machine gun fire, which was pretty light at this point.

Coming out of the heavy shell fire into the open free from it was like walking from darkness into bright sunshine. We entered a village from which the enemy had just been driven, and my officer Capt. T. led us out on a patrol to look over the ground we were to jump off from. Everywhere there was plenty of evidence that the enemy had been surprised and had retreated in a hurry. From the left of our flank we worked over to the extreme right and as we approached a hedge around the shoulder of a hill Fritz could be seen retreating as fast as possible, also a number of them could be seen riding around on horseback. Our section was about 200 yards in front of the main body at this place, and took up a position here and commenced firing. It is with regret I have to say that we suffered few casualties out of ten. One of the finest fellows I have ever known was killed here.

When we arrived at the bridge we could see a machine gun crew working their gun on our side, and as soon as we commenced firing he turned it our way, and one boy after another went down. Our scout corporal crawled back to bring up a machine gun and was wounded in the shoulder, but after having it dressed came up again, and stayed through the remainder of the trip. Well, Heinie eventually left his machine gun and beat it and when we went down the valley there was a battery of big guns, which accounted for the horses, who were undoubtedly endeavoring to get them out.

A number of prisoners were captured here and made to carry out our wounded. At this place some maps and papers were taken from an officer and I was detailed to take them back to headquarters, and I did not catch up with them again until after they had gained their objective, and the cavalry and tanks were closing them back.

We slept that night in a wood and started after the Hun the next day. Just as we were starting off I saw thousands of fresh troops march up and fall out immediately to our rear, and I think it made the men more confident than ever as they knew then there was plenty of support behind them. It was practically open warfare and different from what we had been used to. The planes were in evidence from early morning till dark, and each night the observation balloons

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain in The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

would move forward as the enemy fell back. The next place we came up to Fritz was in an old trench system, but the Canadians drove them out of it, and the night we were relieved we were through the whole three systems, wire and all.

One night our section had to go through another heavy ground mist combined with the smoke of the machine guns were busy and held it until the following morning; this night we were in such a position that we were to be sniped off by one of our own guns as well as that of the enemy, so we kept our heads down.

The last morning in, led by our scout officer, my section went out to reconnoitre in a wood, and succeeded in getting through to the far side, where a post was established until 3 o'clock in the morning, when the welcome relief came.

In this same wood there was all kinds of evidence of Fritz's hurried departure. Food and provisions laying around, rifles with bayonets fixed leaning against the trees just as he had left them. The wood was full of dugouts, with swell beds and compartments. There was also a fine well, and as soon as we were sure he had not doped it, we did not go thirsty. As two of his machine gun posts could be seen 250 yards in front of us, we had to stay in the wood until the men came up, but by this time he was away again.

Throughout the whole of the show we had splendid weather and the men were full of life.

Everything was pretty good and I only wish the Germans would keep moving as fast towards their own country as I saw them doing last week, and when he gets there then he stays there and let the boys come back to their homes.

INTERNAL SITUATION
SERIOUS IN GERMANY

Washington, Sept. 25.—There is just one thing in Chancellor von Hertling's speech that interested the American officials. It was his frank and open admission of the seriousness of the internal situation in Germany.

The inclination of the government to regard the speech as the latest movement in the German peace offensive and as insincere and unworthy of consideration is based upon the feeling that in scarcely a single point does the premier make an unqualified declaration of adherence to the fourteen principles laid down by President Wilson. Everywhere in his speech, officials said there were limitations and qualifications.

Official Washington noticed the admission of the deep discontent existing among great masses of the German people. Through neutral countries have come reports of disorganization, mutiny, rioting and desperation in Germany, but it remained for the German chancellor himself to add the official confirmation which was wanted.

Copenhagen, Sept. 25.—Disappointment over Chancellor von Hertling's speech in indicated by a special dispatch from Berlin. The Voicesche Zeitung says that the speech received hardly any applause from the majority of those who listened to it and with hisses from the minority and that its reception leaves no doubt that at least a considerable part of the majority in the reichstag regard his continuance in office as a hindrance to the new order of things.

Both the Voicesche Zeitung and the Vorwaerts emphasize the need of the government coming to an agreement with Socialist program. The Vorwaerts declares that the chancellor's speech has widened the gulf between the Socialists and the government. Theodore Wolff in the Tagblatt says a new era is coming and that von Hertling belong to a generation whose knell is being rung among the cannon's thunder. The Borser Zeitung, the Morgen Post, the Tagesschau and all express disappointment with the utterances of the chancellor.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Out of the chaos which has existed in Russia since the overthrow of the Kerensky government by the Bolsheviks there is emerging a central authority which officials and diplomaats here hope will be able to re-establish order and renew the fight against the common enemy. Official information reached the Russian embassy today that the pan-Russian conference at Ufa European Russia, which has been reorganized by provincial governments opposing the Bolsheviks, including the Siberian government, has constituted a committee of 5 as the lawful authority for all Russia. This committee will be responsible to the constituent assembly of all Russia and will convene next January 1, provided 250 members attend.

Composing the conference at Ufa where all members of the constituent assembly, which have representatives in Samaria, except those who belong to the factions of the Bolsheviks and of the Social revolutionists of the left. Attending the conference also are delegates of the Siberian government, of the Ukrainian Liberty of the people, of the group of remnants of the social revolutionists.

The committee of five set up as the sovereign authority is composed of M. Tschachovsky, of the government of the north, Archangel, M. Volodinsky, head of the western Siberian government; A. Astroff, formerly mayor of Moscow and members of the constituent democratic party; Lieut. Gen. Boldireff, one of the foremost military experts of Russia, and M. Avksentiev.

The dispatch to the Russian embassy telling of the results of the pan-Russian conference came from the chief of the department of foreign affairs.

A dispatch to the Russian embassy today from M. Golovatcheff, assistant minister of foreign affairs of the Omsk government, said that an army of more than 200,000 men had been formed in Siberia by conscription and that there was 30,000 officers available there to train and lead it. The army is being organized on the basis of strict discipline, it was said, and will constitute an increasingly powerful force to co-operate with the Allied and Czechoslovak forces in Siberia. With the safe arrival of the United States Consul general Poole at Stockholm from Moscow, additional information concerning conditions in central Russia have reached the state department.

The massacre of Russians in Moscow was continuing Sept. 9th, with about 150 executions nightly. More than 1,000 persons had been shot in retaliation for the attempt to kill Lenin, the Bolshevik Premier.

Information also has reached the state department that on Sept. 15, the most violent element of the Bolsheviks were in control in Petrograd and were carrying out a cold blooded terror. People were being arrested en masse, it was reported that 1,000 persons mostly former officers, were being held as hostages for the lives of the Bolshevik commissaries. The population was said to be utterly cowed and there appeared little prospect of a change in the situation.

THE MENNONITES

Macleod citizens have sent a strongly worded resolution to the Dominion government concerning a recent invasion of Mennonites into the South of Alberta. If one may judge from the tone of the speeches made at the meeting where the resolution was unanimously endorsed, there is nothing good or worth while about these people of peculiar religious faith. Regarding them as undesirable citizens in any and every respect, the people of the south country would have them barred altogether from Canadian citizenship.

The Mennonites as is well known have religious scruples against war and armed conflict. Those who have been resident for some years in the west, are under Dominion law, exempt from combat service. Because they were sent exempt there was no open protest when the Military Service Act in operation left them on their farms. But while no open protest was voiced there was a stern resolve made in private that never again would the people tolerate such an act of special consideration to an alien people.

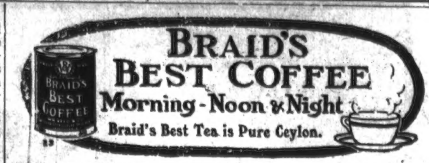

Now that another party of these non-combatants has entered the country, buying large areas of land in the south, that resolve has been crystallized in the Macleod resolution. Canada has had her experience in war and will have no more of these laws which make sheep of one section of the community and goats of another in the matter of patriotic service. In this respect there need be no alarm so far as the Mennonites are concerned. They are still citizens of Uncle Sam's domain and will be for a considerable time to come. As such they are not exempt from war service and must register and take their chances with other Americans resident in Canada.

Another feature of the Macleod resolution was a reference to the community habit of the Mennonites. This is objectionable, but it is not clear how government can prevent it. These people, as others, have a right to buy land in Canada, and they may live as they please so long as they conform to the laws of the country in regard to citizenship, its obligations and rights. The only features of their community habit is by making certain that they are required to live up to the strict letter of the law in municipal and educational affairs. If this is done they can be assimilated, though it will take longer time than it should.

The Sabbath

In reply to Mr. McVagh, re Sabbath Observance, I may say he has carefully avoided the very point at issue. He has given one passage where we are commanded to keep the 7th day of the week. He says "Surely you admit we keep one day in seven." We never assert or teach that the Seventh Day Adventists do not keep the Sabbath. In contrast to that, they come among our people persistently teaching that we are not keeping the Sabbath, even though by their inability to give us scripture warrant, they have to admit that we are keeping it just as literally as they. The fact that the Jews kept the 7th day of the week does not imply that we should. They did many things we do not do and are not expected to do. Our guide is the word of God in its simplicity. We must not add to it. We do not believe the 4th commandment should be revised and made to read thus: "Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy. The first six days of the week shalt thou labor and do all thy work, but the seventh day of the week is the Sabbath, etc." The commandment as it stands is good enough for us. Surely there is room enough for missionary activity among those who are not already Christian people. The spirit of the Master would be shown better in co-operation rather than in trying to minimize and disturb the work of those who are seeking to do the work Christ commanded them to do.

THRIFT HALLMARKS A NATION

Saving the almighty dollar in order to gratify one's desires in the matter of personal purchases has been a working force in society for all time. To save for the sake of hoarding the golden dollars is a form of insanity that has afflicted the misers of all time. To save in order to make another stronger is the highest form of thrift known. And exercising this virtue of laying aside extra dollars from our present surpluses for the better living of society when times may not be so generous we carry in us the marks of the true Canadian patriot.

He who loves his country is no waster. He knows his savings form the capital that makes business go. The dollar soon doubles itself and total savings of a thrifty people make the nation as a really great one. Love of our Canadian home land demands of every resident from the Yukon to Cape Breton, that he saves his surplus dollars against a possible rainy day. The thrifty man is one of Canada's big patriots.

RIMBEY NEWS

(Too late for last issue)

A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mrs. Rosa B. Coverdale last Thursday, when a number of relatives and friends were invited to partake of a bounteous wedding dinner given for her youngest daughter, Clara Marie, and Mr. Paul Pierson, who were married on July 30th, at Red Deer but who had kept their marriage so secret that only a very few knew of it until the arrival of the guests, when they were shown the marriage certificate. Whereupon congratulations and best wishes were bestowed upon the young couple. All present enjoyed the joke which had been so cleverly played upon them.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson are so well and favorably known here that no introduction is necessary, especially so in the case of the bride, who has grown up amongst us and is a young lady of sterling worth and character. One who has ever been ready and willing to lend a helping hand wherever needed, and we are very much pleased to know that through her marriage she will not be removed from our midst, as she will take up housekeeping here. The best wishes of her hosts and friends go with her to her new home. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful wedding gifts.

With the prospect of the railway being completed in the near future, real estate here is looking up, several places having changed hands lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson are soon to take up housekeeping on the quarter recently purchased from Mr. True. They have also purchased the quarter adjoining them on the west, from Fred Becker.

Jos. Marshall has sold both his farms lately, and is building a nice Bungalow in Rimby for his family.

E. J. Connelly has purchased the Frank Symonds farm, five miles south of Rimby.

The new heating plants for the Rimby schools are being installed. Many of the schools in surrounding districts have also purchased heating plants.

John Holder, one of the old settlers here, and who died at the Lacombe hospital on Sunday last, was buried at Rimby on Tuesday, September 24th.

Robert and Eric Brooks, and Alta Iddings, are each taking courses at the University schools at Edmonton.

O. B. Moore was on the Calgary market with a car of cattle on Saturday.

A little son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hopper last Friday evening.

STEERS WORTH 13c. IN LACOMBE

Never in the history of this generation have cattle sold for the prices they have been selling this year. Buyers are paying as high as thirteen cents for good beef steers delivered in Lacombe, and when you think of a steer weighing a little over 1300 lbs. bringing $170.00 you realize how necessary beef is to the armies fighting at the front. All classes of cattle are high, and it will likely be some little time before we can expect much change in the prices of either hogs, sheep, or cattle. Bacon is needed at the front as well as beef, and there is not enough to go round. Wool sold lately as high as 72 1/2 cents per lb. in Toronto, and mutton is in such demand in the States and Canada that Australian mutton is being shipped in large quantities.

The farmers in this district are in perhaps the best shape financially of any place in Alberta. They have kept at mixed farming and have never experienced the failures that those depending on grain have been subjected to. Had the hay not been short this year, hundreds of cattle would have been carried till spring, and more money still, realized on them. The western part of this district has the largest crop on record, and the farmers out there are shipping cattle from the south where food is scarce.

When we realize that it will take two years after peace is declared for all our soldiers to return home and that during all that time they have to be clothed and fed, farmers can feel safe in feeding all the beef and pork, and raising all the sheep they can, as the prices must remain high.

Government Officials Endorse
Chautauqua Festival

At no time in the history of the Chautauqua Festival movement have the strong reasons for its permanency, as a clear expression and support of national ideals and purpose, been so vitally apparent as now.

President Wilson, Vice President Marshall, Secretary of War, Baker, Henry P. Davidson, George Creel, and other principal authorities at Washington unqualifiedly urge the earnest co-operation of the American people in supporting the Chautauqua Festival throughout the country. In the nucleus of their several endorsements is found the strong reasons for Chautauqua's necessary place in the sun during the high noon of world history. These strong reasons are condensed in the self-evident truth that Chautauqua affords the Government, first-hand the largest possible opportunity for the diffusion of light to the masses upon the problems of the present war crisis.

From the Festival platform through mutual co-operation of the government the Chautauqua Managers, will be heard experts who will speak with the vital authority of first hand information secured through personal investigation at the front. In this respect the only rival is the press. The aims and pursuits of both are identical but the former has one advantage, for while the written words of experts are read individually, the spoken words of the same experts from the platform faster attention more closely. They are doubly effective, too, in that the information is received en masse, the facts reviewed en masse, and unity of opinion and action upon same thought out and forged en masse.

The Chautauqua Musical Festival will be held in Lacombe next month.

Paradise Stock Farm Sale

Stockmen will be interested in the sale at the Paradise Stock Farm, of sheep and Shorthorn cattle, advertised in this issue. Men wanting to establish a flock of sheep, or men wanting to purchase a herd of grade sheep and at the same time procure choice purebred sires to head their stock will have a splendid opportunity of making a selection at this sale. A very few of these grade sheep are carrying age but 90 per cent. of those offered have not reached their prime.

Those thinking of starting a flock will be interested to know that the large number of grade ewe lambs offered are of Oxford breeding and exceptionally well grown. They will weigh around 90 pounds at the time of sale.

Only four of the Shorthorn cattle offered are more than five yrs. old, and they carry a lot of rich Scotch blood. Every female of breeding age, has had, or will have, a calf in 1918. These cattle are excellent in color are in good condition, and are of good size.

The twenty Yorkshire sows offered were farrowed last March during the last five years, and the prolific, deep, strong constitutioned sows at time of sale will weigh around 250 pounds. The sows from which this herd was founded is still breeding and every one offered is a daughter or granddaughter of this individual. The progeny of this sow has won the championship at every show where exhibited, and individuals have been sold as far east as Quebec.

The Paradise stock farm sale from the wide selection offered and individuality of breeding should be largely attended.

The date of this sale October 16th, should be kept in mind, as Paradise Stock Farm has built up a reputation in the quality of its stock.

The Dispersion Sale of Paradise Stock Farm, includes the largest number of registered sheep and swine ever held in western Canada. Look at list on another page.
